SPRING SHOW

"INERTIA"

FCCC

THE COLO-WYO NUMISMATIC ASSN will hold its first annual spring show in Denver at the Sheraton Inn 3535 Quebec in Denver. For many years CWNA has held successful shows in the Fall, so with the success of these shows & hobby potential the Board decided to hold an annual event each spring in Denver. This year's show will be primarily concerned with determining the response to a Denver spring show, therefore will not use the standard format, but instead concentrate on dealers and exhibitors, with no auction or banquet planned. The giveaways will include gold coins, plus some surprises.. Several Denver clubs helping with the show, but prefer to let the show be listed only under CWNA. Nice gesture?

Show dates: May 5,6,7

I WOULD LIKE TO ANNOUNCE the last issue of the newsletter, but being stubborn I won't. So far I have yet to receive any mail directed at my opinions or to otherwise comment on the newsletter. I will bring this to the attention of the board in a future meeting. Some people do comment personally and I do thank them. The point of all this is apparently no club is really concerned with any thing, but its own sphere no matter how small. Don't stir is a phrase commonly used to describe a reluctance to consider change. Presenting an alternate view requires work and time, so I must assume new views are not worthy of your time, or some comment would be presented. If this is so, every club is perfect and can not improve, therefore CWNA may not have a reason for being, and certainly not a newsletter. This newsletter can not compete with the excellent coverage now seen by the numismatic press so must cover discussions of ideas, present articles by local experts, cover CWNA's actions. I have tried to do this, but with little apparent success. How about some discussion at your next meeting? I'll try to be there if requested.

FROM THE BOARD

With only one board meeting since last newsletter this report will be short.

Meeting Oct. 25, 1971

Final disposition of expense of Fall show reported on. A total balance came to $1,275 expenses and gave a profit of $500. This was split between the sponsoring group Laramie and Cheyenne clubs and CWNA.

Case disposition- After discussion of many points these points were made as motions and passed. Cases to be offered as-is-where-is basis, first to CWNA members, then others. Price to be determined after inventory. (See article elsewhere)

Carrying boxes- It was felt the remaining good cases needed protection in transportation, etc. to remain in good condition. Final action was deferred.

Discussion of badges and new membership cards. Costs for new Life badges $69.42, not including mailing, but included cut. Decided to use the remaining membership cards, then consider new design.

Spring show- General feeling to hold three day show, the primary purpose to establish an annual spring Denver show President Robert Davis and V.P. William Davis were directed to proceed with detailed arrangements. (See story front page)

New business: none

FREE? ALMOST!

After much discussion we are to dispose of some of CWNA's cases. The disposal will be at the CWNA SPRING show in Denver. These cases have damage that varies from a broken hinge, upward, but will make a good case when repaired and at considerable less than current market prices.

Rules:

1. All cases $8 each
2. One case per applicant until all are processed
3. Case taken, as is, within one hour of drawing. C.O.D.
4. All cases will be sealed in boxes, numbered. No inspection will be permitted or returns.
5. Mail requests taken till April 15. Further requests taken at show.
6. Form for all requests: Envelope containing applicant's name, CWNA number (if any), address.

Send to- R. Davis
9783 Alamo Dr.
Denver, Co
80221

7. Drawing:
Sunday afternoon a drawing will be held to determine the number of the case given to each applicant. The applicant must pickup case within one hour or remaining applicants will be sold the case. If applicants exceed cases avail. drawing will be used to obtain first applicants.
8. First preference will be given to CWNA members.

ODDS & ENDS

The CWNA donated $25 to the ANA Museum fund. This is one of the more worthy causes in numismatics and we in CWNA's area are fortunate to have this type of facility nearby.

DENVER coin club will visit the Aurora club en masse. It is the best way to learn of other clubs and get out of a rut, if such is the case in your club. Recognizing a rut is the big problem.

Ideas from other clubs:

Exact schedule of events-
Early-bird door prize-
Schedule of years meetings-
All members assigned to some committee-
Program responsibility assigned for entire year-
Membership number drawing-

Overheard:

In visits to the area clubs the following seemed to be most heard as negative.

Meeting too long-
Not starting on time-
Poor programs-
Too much discussion of minor business-
Poor quality auctions-

— NEED PROGRAMS? —

THE CWNA program service is not being used much. As best we can with personal schedules we will provide a speaker for your club. The only cost is your attention during the CWNA commercial.

POT OF GOLD!

THE IDEA of making money in large amounts should appeal to some coin organization as very few are overly solvent, but so far no takers. This idea was first presented to CWNA board, then others thru the newsletter. The plan of course, is a bi-centennial medal or coin. Now coupled with the Olympics we have the opportunity of the century. If enough interest is shown by CWNA members this association will pursue the details, but if not, why not some club. Remember 200 yrs for the U.S., 100 years for the state, plus the Olympics.

We won't have another chance! so how about it? Let's hear your ideas.
